At Eventtone we understand how confusing event communications can be. Do you need to construct a communications plan connecting your parking staff with security and your catering with your operations? Do you need private channels for your executives and an all call channel for emergencies? Are you trying to cover a large area and have no idea whether it will work? Are you not even sure what you need or how to proceed? Eventtone can help.

The staff from Eventtone has years of experience providing solutions for small and large event organizers all over the US. We have designed, produced and executed communications plans for some the largest one day and multiple day marque events in the world along with hundreds of others. Event producers trust us because we understand the event business and have the experience to help you design every step of your communications plan. Whether you need our expertise during the planning stages, complete onsite staffing and operations during the event, equipment procurement, design of communications code plugs, interference control, or communications mapping and programming we can help. Just ask!

EVENTTONE CONSULTING PROVIDES TOTAL END-TO-END SOLUTIONS

At Eventtone we have the skill and experience to assure your event's communications will be seamless. Whether you need to cover an area the size of 5 ballrooms or 5 boroughs we can help. We have done it before know what it takes to make sure your operations run smoothly.

It's simple really....You have a lot to do and you just need it to work. If your communications are designed correctly, you shouldn't even notice it. Our goal at Eventtone is to make sure you have the communications plan you need and it all works the way it should. Our decades' worth of combined experience and hundreds of successful events can make sure it all works for you.
