

Two Way Radios for Restaurants & Catering

Your restaurant and catering guests want to enjoy a relaxed, comfortable dining experience, with exemplary service attentive to the details that make your establishment stand out. Meeting this expectation requires instant communication that seamlessly coordinates the unseen resources needed to please your guests. The right communication tool can help ensure that tables are ready, that guests are seated promptly and that all the elements of good service are in place to meet customer expectations.

Two-way radios are an indispensable tool for helping restaurant managers, catering directors and Food & Beverage staff stay connected. They improve service and enhance the customer experience. Traditionally, however, two-way radios have had functional and aesthetic limitations that were less than ideal.

EventTone Wireless has been providing wireless solutions to the food services & hospitality industry for years and understands how they use their current two-way radios.

We believe there are three key design elements that would improve their efficiency and enhance the customer experience.

- Comfort - more ways for staff to wear the radio comfortably
- Performance - clear, strong audio performance to break through noise
- Image - sleek, yet durable styling that promotes the restaurant's flair and personality

EventTone Wireless offers a wide variety of communications solutions from small 2-watt radios perfect for a small to midsize eatery to our commercial grade 4-watt devices perfect for larger catering halls and multi-location events.
